

IHTM Podcast Series: Unpacking the Fundamentals of Global Health: Towards a New Generation of Leadership

Introduction

Welcome to the International Health and Tropical Medicine Podcast series.

In this series, we explore some of the emerging and recurrent themes in global health with a goal to enrich our understanding in order to improve the ways we engage with one another in the global health space.

The series will draw on IHTM faculty, teachers and alumni who are at the forefront of health.

We hope the podcast will appeal to a broad audience.

The topics we will cover in this series include decolonization, partnership and global health.

Breaking down barriers and understanding evidence as well as the purpose of research.

Thank you for joining us.